People who are unlikely to get a house in the government's life scheme have been selected for this. Students having healthy parents engaged in various occupations, students having more than 8 cents of land, families with only sons are not considered for the above application. The committee recommended 7 deserving students. The teachers and other employees of the college set aside a portion of their salary for this purpose. All the students of the college contributed whatever amount they could towards it. In addition, the students were able to raise funds for the construction of houses through voluntary organizations, charitable trusts, businessmen from various sectors and the CSR fund of the Kerala State Beverages Corporation. 430 square feet houses are being built. A maximum of Rs 6 lakh has been earmarked for a house. The families who were prepared earlier by the Foundation for the construction of houses required a maximum of Rs 4.5 lakh to complete the houses. 5 houses were completely completed and two houses were partially completed. Handing over of keys to all houses is expected in June 2023. The Platinum Jubilee Committee members came up with the idea of finding a deserving person and providing them with a house every year.

Activity Report

The EARN WHILE YOU LEARN PROGRAMME for the academic year 2023-24 was structured as a comprehensive two-stage initiative aimed at providing students with hands-on experience and theoretical knowledge in mushroom cultivation and compost preparation. The first stage focused on creating awareness among participants by imparting principles and theoretical concepts related to mushroom cultivation and compost preparation. During this phase, students received limited hands-on training to reinforce their understanding. In the second stage of the program, participants had the opportunity to actively engage in each step of mushroom cultivation and compost preparation. This hands-on approach allowed students to gain practical experience in handling various aspects of cultivating mushrooms and preparation compost. Emphasizing sustainability, the training included the utilization of different biodegradable wastes, including agricultural by-products, in the composting process.

Dr. Sojan Jose, Assistant Professor in the Department of Botany at Govt. Victoria College, Palakkad, played a pivotal role in the program. On December 8, 2023, Dr. Jose conducted an informative session on mushroom cultivation, highlighting the nutritive value of mushrooms and their value-added products. His expertise enriched the students' understanding of the subject, providing them with valuable insights into the science and practice of mushroom cultivation. Further contributing to the program, Dr. Damodaran P N, Head of the Waste Management Division at IRTC, Mundur, Palakkad, delivered a talk on Zero Waste Management. Dr. Damodaran elaborated on the various stages of solid waste management, encompassing collection, processing, and the bioconversion of biodegradable solid waste into oyster mushrooms (Pleurotus pulmonarius or Pleurotus sajor-caju). Through a practical demonstration, he showcased the different stages of mushroom cultivation, adding a practical dimension to the theoretical knowledge imparted. This session was on 20th December 2023 FN. Abilash K, representing MANNU KERALA, led the training session on compost production on 20th December 2023 AN. In his session, Abilash provided insights into the dos and don'ts of the compost production process. This information was crucial for the students to grasp the intricacies of producing high-quality compost using various biodegradable materials. Dr. Sarika A R, Senior Scientist specializing in Microbiology, also actively participated in the program. Her presence added depth to the students' learning experience, as she interacted with them, sharing her expertise and knowledge in the field of microbiology related to mushroom cultivation.

Twelve students from the First Year B. Sc Botany actively participated in the EARN WHILE YOU LEARN PROGRAMME (2023-24). Their engagement in the training program showcased their enthusiasm and commitment to gaining practical knowledge in the field. The initiative not only equipped them with essential skills in mushroom cultivation and compost preparation but also instilled a sense of responsibility towards sustainable waste management practices. The program's emphasis on utilizing biodegradable wastes for compost production aligns with contemporary environmental concerns and promotes a circular economy approach. Participants not only learned about the theoretical aspects of mushroom cultivation but also had the opportunity to apply their knowledge in real-world scenarios. This holistic learning experience is expected to contribute to their academic and professional growth, preparing them for future challenges in the field of agriculture and waste management.

Activity Report

Overview

Sanitary cleaners play a crucial role in maintaining cleanliness, hygiene, and overall health in various environments, such as homes, workplaces, healthcare facilities, public spaces, and more. Their importance extends beyond mere aesthetics and has significant impacts on both individuals and communities. Even though Sanitary cleaners from a large number of companies are available people will surely support homemade products, specially made by the college students. Supporting college students in producing handmade sanitary cleaners empowers them to take initiative and build practical skills. By encouraging college students to create and market their own products, supporters contribute to the development of a new generation of business leaders. Moreover, handmade products can sometimes be more affordable compared to mass-produced alternatives. People who are price-conscious may find value in supporting student-made sanitary cleaners that offer cost-effective options.

Reiniger- Sanitary Cleaner and Floor cleaner

The Earn While You Learn program initiated by the Chemistry Department aimed to provide students with practical skills and financial opportunities through hands-on experience in the production of sanitary cleaners. The program spanned a specific period, involving training sessions, practical workshops, and a structured approach to blend theoretical knowledge with real-world applications.

Equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary for the formulation and production of sanitary cleaners.

The Department of Chemistry, Government College Chittur, organized a one-day workshop on the production of a sanitary cleaner named "Reiniger" on 23/1/2024. Dr. Ambili K. U., Assistant Professor, Department of Chemistry is served as the Resource Person. The workshop is designed in two sessions and aimed to provide participants with hands-on experience in the synthesis and formulation of an effective and eco-friendly sanitary cleaner. The event included theoretical sessions on chemical principles, practical demonstrations, and discussions on the importance of maintaining cleanliness and hygiene.

The workshop began with a theoretical session on the chemistry of cleaning agents. Topics covered included the role of surfactants, solvents, and other active ingredients in formulating effective cleaners. Emphasis was placed on understanding the environmental impact of cleaning agents and the need for sustainable alternatives.

Participants engaged in a hands-on demonstration of the production process of "Reiniger." They learned about the selection and measurement of ingredients, mixing techniques, and quality control. Safety protocols and waste disposal methods were also discussed to ensure responsible manufacturing practices.

This workshop successfully combined theoretical knowledge with practical skills, empowering participants to contribute to the development of eco-friendly cleaning solutions. The "Reiniger" sanitary cleaner serves as an example of how chemistry can be applied for the betterment of public health and environmental sustainability.

ACTIVITY 1: National Forest week (Van Mahotsav) observation (5/7/2022)

Vana Mahotsav is an annual tree planting festival that is celebrated in India during the first week of July. It was first started in 1950 by the then Union Minister for Agriculture, K. M. Munshi, to create awareness about the importance of trees and forests. The festival is now celebrated across India, with people from all walks of life coming together to plant trees. The importance of Vanamahotsav and planting bamboo samplings cannot be overstated. Trees and forests play a crucial role in maintaining the ecological balance of the planet.

As a part of Vana Mahotsav, Environment Club and Green protocol committee of Government college Chittur planted more than 25 bamboo samplings across the banks of Shokanashini, river flows through the campus, on 05/07/2022. Ms. Jayanthi C of History department coordinated the programme and Sri. Suresh Kumar A of Botany department took an awareness class on types of bamboo trees and its importance. Teachers and students of various departments have actively participated in the programme. Planting bamboo samplings as part of Vanamahotsav can help to combat deforestation and desertification, which are major environmental problems in many parts of the world. By planting more trees and bamboo, we can also improve the quality of life for people in the surrounding areas by providing them with cleaner air, water, and a source of livelihood.

ACTIVITY 2: OZONE DAY OBSERVATION ON 15/9/2022

Every year, 16th September is observed as the International Day for the Preservation of the Ozone layer (World Ozone Day) to commemorate the signing of the Montreal Protocol.

The theme of World Ozone Day 2022 is “Montreal Protocol@35: global cooperation protecting life on earth”.

Ozone Day observance provides an opportunity to raise awareness among college students about the importance of ozone layer protection and the harmful effects of ozone depletion. Observing Ozone Day in colleges promotes the idea of environmental responsibility among students. It encourages them to take proactive measures to protect the environment and create a sustainable future. Overall, observing Ozone Day in colleges can contribute to creating a more informed and environmentally conscious student body, which can have a positive impact on the future of the planet. Keeping this in our mind Environment club has organized a coloring competition for College students on the topic “Ozone for Life”. Dr. Anuradha V. K. officially inaugurated the function and Dr. Ambili K. U. took an awareness session on ozone and its importance. First and second prize winners were awarded with cash prize.

ACTIVITY 3: CHAMPIONS OF EARTH -Pick & Plop Down Plastic Pens (31/10/2022)

Plastic pen pollution is a growing environmental concern that has far-reaching consequences. Every year, billions of plastic pens are produced and disposed of worldwide, contributing to the already massive problem of plastic waste. This waste poses significant environmental and health hazards, and it is crucial to take measures to address this issue. plastic pen pollution is a significant environmental concern that requires immediate action. Reducing our use of disposable plastic pens, encouraging sustainable alternatives, and advocating for policies to limit plastic production and disposal can help mitigate the harmful effects of plastic waste.

Environment club and Green Protocol Committee of Govt.
